SERIOUS ASSAULT.—Between 1 and 2 o'clock yesterday morning, a fight occurred at the City Hotel in South End-st., between several young men, during which a butcher named Joseph Smith was struck over the head with a glass decanter. The blow took effect on the right temple, cutting a gash some three inches in length and severing the artery. Shortly after, Smith was found by Officer Minor in Fourth-st., nearly exhausted from the loss of blood; he accordingly conveyed the injured man to the First Ward Station-House where he was attended by Dr. Smith. Had the artery been, but partially severed, he would probably have bled to death. Yesterday afternoon Officers Gischaud and Thiankin arrested a young man named Edward Manahan, in South Seventh-st., on a warrant charging him with having committed the assault. He was locked up to await examination.

BURGLARY.—During Monday night the carpenter shop of Mr. J. C. Brown, in Second-st., near North Eleventh-st., was burglariously entered, and robbed of door locks and tools valued at about $30. This shop has been robbed twice before during this summer.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.—An old man named Joseph Treadwell was brought before Justice J. Russell yesterday, on a charge of attempting to rob a German peddler named Louis Dalvitt, residing at No. 39 Avenue U. New-York, of some cloth, valued at $10. Dalvitt testified that Treadwell attempted to take the cloth from him in Grand-st. the evening previous. Accused was remanded for trial on Thursday.
